

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A friction lining with a porous fiber layer is described which is characterized in that the fiber layer consists of a sintered fiber structure, preferably made of polyimide fibers.